MCKL HOSTELS 2016

CULTIVATING A COMMUNITY OF EXCELLENCE

The College hostel units are considered an extension of the MCKL campus. Just as excellence is expected in academic performance and co-curricular activity involvement, excellence is also expected among the hostel residents consistent with the College core values. MCKL staff are available to guide you and your housemates in cultivating these values and making your unit a community of excellence.

Honour God by...

1. Reserving one day in the week where you can be with God's people in God's place to reset your life values to face the challenges and opportunities of the week to come.
2. Being aware of God's daily presence in your interaction with people and the choices you make. Practice your beliefs in such a way that brings a good name to your God e.g. praying discretely when others are studying.
3. Even if you don't believe in God, other people may. Respect them by not doing anything that will be regarded as offensive, like bringing pork or beef products into your unit, or making insensitive remarks about their beliefs and practices.

Respect fellow student residents by...

1. Allowing only student residents of the same gender into your unit.
2. Not doing anything that will bring trouble to or endanger or inconvenience them.
3. Not bringing in cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, pornographic material (soft or hard copy), illicit drugs and pets into your unit.

Cherish what you have by ...

1. Not making holes or knocking nails into the walls or using any type of glue or tape which may damage the wall or furniture surface.
2. Managing your belongings - money, computers, cell phones, books sports equipment, clothes, shoes, etc - in ways that show you value them.
3. Doing whatever is necessary to make sure your room and unit looks and smells good and there is nothing exposed that will feed ants, cockroaches and rats.

Celebrate excellence and diversity by...

1. Willing to set aside personal preferences to cultivate a community culture within your unit
2. Working with your housemates to make your unit a safe and healthy place to live.
3. Managing your room or unit in ways that makes you and your housemates feel good.

HOW TO REPORT PROBLEMS

1. If something in your unit or room is broken or does not work as it should, inform your unit rep to send a report to facilities@mckl.edu.my. This report must have a description of the problem with pictures if possible, name of unit rep, contact telephone and the unit number.
2. If you experience problems with your housemates, send an e-mail describing your problem to ssd@mckl.edu.my. You must include your name, contact number and hostel unit in the e-mail.
